Mike,

This morning, Delta Airlines in Minneapolis refused boarding to the US-national subject of an extradition case. [redacted] was being escorted to Canada by two Toronto Police Officers pursuant to a successful extradition request.

Case Management has reached out to the LO in New York with the letter of request for assistance from the Department of Justice with a request to facilitate boarding with the airline.

I have reached out to [redacted] in New York as well to confirm whether she had been consulted on the case by Delta prior to the offload, but it doesn't seem likely. I will keep you posted on developments.
